By Edgar A. Guest

What hope is left for us today? The hope we had long years away. Younger we were, but even then The future urged us to be men And held us in the face of strife To battle 'gainst the odds of life.

Most difficult the future seemed To us who looked afar and dreamed, Nor could we guess the changes which Should make so many of us rich, Yet held by hope we all stood fast Against the hardships of the past.

Now difficult grows life once more. The days of easy tasks are o'er. The indolent delights have gone, But yet that hope which spurred us on Still urges us to face the test And give to life our utmost best.

None knows just where the future runs,

But for our daughters and our sons The hope remains that as we found The paths which led to higher ground,

So in the future they shall find Both victory and peace of mind.

Do you feel out of sorts? Out of harmony with the world in general? Does it seem as if things were all against you, and that you and "Lady Luck" were on the "outs"? If so—this is a good time to change your aspect by taking a walk down on Oak Street. A street of old second hand stores and junk shops conducted by old whiskered-disreputable cajoling Jews. A street reeking with obnoxious odors and filth. A street of Yiddish bartering and babbling. Let us go into Old Goldstein's Second Hand Furniture Store. Everything in the store has a story. A story of poverty and tragedy. Sorrow and grief hovers over it all. Here victims of fate; of circumstances; of calamity, bring their treasures that hold happy memories to secure temporary financial relief to satisfy hunger pangs or the demands of merciless landlords. Hush! Here comes a woman now. She has a black shawl over her head. Her eyes are red from much weeping. Under her arm she has a small clock; a wedding present to her and John from the boys in the office where she was employed before her marriage. She struggles to control her emotions. Her husband died with the flu and her baby is sick. All her scant reserve funds have vanished and the pantry is bare. She must get nourishing food for her child. Old Goldstein comes down from the back of the dark store to meet her, rubbing his greasy hands together. He shakes his head. He has more clocks now than he knows what to do with. The woman tells him she must have money. She pleads. She tells him her story. Goldstein stands there with a sarcastic grin on his face. He finally picks up the clock and looks it over. The woman's face brightens. "How much?" he mutters. She timidly suggests five dollars. Goldstein chuckles loudly; insultingly. Tears come to the woman's eyes. She clutches at her shawl nervously. Goldstein picks up the clock again, lays it down, and puts his hand in his pocket and hands the woman three fifty cent pieces. She hesitates. The vision of her sick child is too much. She takes the money and hurries to the door. A smile of satisfaction comes over the face of Old Goldstein. The "sly" returns to his hole in the rear to await another "fly." A feeling of nausea comes over you. Your aspect of things in general has been given a jolt.

No longer does "Lady Luck" seem such an insidious creature. In fact you think she is a pretty good scout after all. You feel that you would enjoy throttling Old Goldstein by the throat. A hopeful sign. You are seeing the light again, and thinking of others.

Cow Has Billy-Goat Appetite
WILLOWS, Cal., April 13—(CPS)—Until she died, like Dixon didn't know his family cow was a walking hardware store.
After years of faithful performance, the animal was suddenly seized with indigestion and died.
Investigating the cause, Dixon opened the cow's stomach. There, to his amazement, he found an assortment of nails, bolts, screws, pieces of iron, wire, and other junk. Said Nixon: She must have had an appetite like a billy-goat."

FRANK GAIENNIE ASSISTS MAKING SNOW SURVEY

Average Snow On 7000 and 8000 Foot Levels in This Region Found To Be Less Than Last Year

Frank Gaiennie, local manager of the Sierra Pacific Power Company, together with Tom Welch, engineer of the Sierra Pacific Power Company and Ted Lunsford and J. Dixon of the University of Nevada have completed gathering data for the annual co-operative snow survey made by the State of California and Nevada to determine amount of precipitation to be expected for the coming summer. The survey is made for the benefit of the power companies, irrigation districts, farmers, ranchers and stockmen.

The survey is made with a steel tube 1 1/2 inches in diameter, and 180 inches long. The snow core is taken and weighed, and data is thus worked out.

Mr. Gaiennie states that in making the survey at Webber Lake, an average of 102 inches was found on the 8000 foot level, as compared with 106 inches of snow for the same period last year. On the 7000 foot level there was an average of 72 inches as compared with 76 inches last year.

Surveys were also made at Ward Creek, Rubicon, Glen Alpine, Bald Mountain, Boca, Hunter Creek, Mt. Rose, Bearface, near Verdi, and Marlette Lake near Glenbrook.

Many long, hard ski trips were made in securing the necessary data which is secured by inserting the long steel tube every 50 feet for a course of one mile.

The final result of the survey will be compiled by Professor Boardman and Dr. Church of the University of Nevada.

C. E. SMITH ENDORSED BY LOCAL CHAMBER

Chamber of Commerce Endorse Candidacy of C. E. Smith for Director of Public Utility to Succeed Himself.

A resolution heartily endorsing the candidacy of C. E. Smith for Director of the Utility District to succeed himself, was unanimously adopted at the weekly luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce on Monday.

The Utility District is the offspring of the Chamber of Commerce and Smith, while president of that body, was one of the organizers of the District, and has been president of its Board of Directors since their election. The other two members are T. O'Hanrahan and C. B. White. The directors rightfully take a natural pride in what has been accomplished, and the success of the District to date, is a fine tribute to their judgment and foresight.

Smith has been an outstanding leader in civic affairs and has given unstintingly of his time and labor in public work. In common with the other Directors of the District, his heart and soul has been in the work of the District and unitedly they have labored in an effort to lay plans and build upon a firm foundation. They point with pride to the fact that all the acts of the District have been approved unanimously by the Board.

The other officers of the District are R. A. Tonini, accountant; Lotta Bryant, treasurer; C. Edmunds, manager and T. L. Chamberlain, attorney.

The success of the District is largely due to the harmony, good will and confidence that has prevailed among the officers and the members of the Chamber of Commerce feel that the progress and welfare of the District will be materially assisted by a continuance of this condition.

MOVE TO ELIMINATE LOCAL REGISTRATION STATION IS OPPOSED

A recent bill introduced in the State legislature to eliminate the various State registration stations, including the one at Truckee, and the curtailment of the State highway patrol, by reducing it almost in half, is receiving opposition from the citizens of this town.

The Truckee Lions Club, Truckee Chamber of Commerce and the Truckee Republican have sent a telegram to State Senator J. L. Seawell advising him to oppose any legislation which might mean the ultimate closing of the Truckee Registration Station and the reducing of the State Highway Patrol force. It is felt that the community can ill afford to lose either the station or any of the patrolmen.

The local chamber of commerce have taken steps to have the Federal Government establish a Reforestation Camp in this region at an early date, and to offer relief work to the men of the Truckee-Lake Tahoe-Sierra Region who are greatly in need of employment in order to provide for their families.

The chamber has sent the following letter to both United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson, and to United States Congressman Harry L. Englebright.

Honorable Hiram W. Johnson, U. S. Senator, Washington, D. C.
Dear Mr. Johnson:

We understand that a Bill creating Civilian Conservation Corps has passed Congress; we respectfully urge action looking toward establishment of camps in western Nevada and eastern California on eastern slope of Sierras where forests have been denuded through removal of first growth timber owing to numerous fires during recent years.

There are numbers of families in our Truckee-Tahoe area that are sadly in need of relief work, and we feel that many fire trails and roads could be built in this area that would mean the saving of many valuable acres of our forests in the years to come.

Much constructive work and relief for many worthy families can be accomplished through establishment of Civilian Conservation Corps in this section.

May we urge that you use your influence to aid us in obtaining this relief.

Thanking you, we are,
Very truly yours,

Truckee Chamber of Commerce

Legislature proposes a board of control instead of finance director to handle the state's money. But who's going to take care of the deficit?

Someone stole two barrels of mustard in Oregon. Enough to make a million hot dogs bark.

"TIMEO DANAOS ET DONA FERENTES"

There is an old Latin saying—"Timeo Danaos et dona ferentes," meaning—"I fear the Greeks, even when they bring gifts." The same can be said of the Republicans.

For a short time after the inauguration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, many of the old "dyed in the wool Republicans" were consistent enough to give the President credit for his remarkable display of statesmanship and executive ability, and were even inclined to show a certain amount of gratefulness for being rendered timely aid at the most critical time in the history of the United States. Now that the crisis has passed, and the banks have re-opened, and the country has shaken off the shackles of fear under the leadership of the President, it is most amusing to observe the reaction in the ranks of the Republican fold.

Perhaps the most laughable antic of these "dyed in the wool Republicans" is their claim that most of the undertakings of the Roosevelt Administration were originally proposed by Hoover but disapproved by Congress.

It is safe to presume that there were a number of men back in the days of Columbus, who took the same stand; that Columbus merely carried out some of their plans, and that instead of Columbus getting the credit for discovering America, the credit really belongs to some of the sea captains who stayed home and confined their activities to talking rather than action.

We are told by the press that Hoover will shortly go to New York for the purpose of keeping tab on what the Roosevelt Administration does. If such is the case, then we shall all have just cause to question his Americanism.

This is no time for spying; for seeking ways and means of belittling and hindering an Administration who is working day and night to get us out of the quagmires and quicksilver sands of economic difficulty.

There is no better way for Mr. Hoover, Mr. Ogden Mills and the rest of the disgruntled Republican crowd to serve their fellow countrymen, than to keep "out of the picture" and give those in power a chance to bring the "ship of the nation" out of the troubled waters into the safe harbour of peace and prosperity.

THE AKRON

The Akron, pride of the United States navy, crashes in a storm at sea and goes down with 73 aboard.

The major loss is not the big ship alone, even though it sends $20,000,000 more to Davy Jones' locker. The greater tragedy is the lives of brave officers and enlisted men lost in the wreck.

The value of the dirigible in war remains yet to be proved. The enemy need only send aloft a squadron of pursuit planes—"mosquitoes of the air" they are called—and they could shoot the big ship to pieces in a jiffy.

Before investing any more millions in a dirigible, Uncle Sam's naval experts should consider what the same sum would buy in the way of augmenting our present under-equipped air corps.

First the Shenandoah, now the Akron. What of the Macon? Is not the cost of human life of these tragedies too great to justify continuing the experiments?

A "WHITE ELEPHANT"

The state of California has a "white elephant" on its hands in the form of the San Francisco state building annex.

This was the structure attacked by the state senate investigating committee because of the extremely high rental of $60,000 a year for 25 years, and an optional purchase price of $550,000.

The owner, Walter R. Varney, air lines magnate, now comes forward with an offer to deed the building to the state and cancel the back rent for the sum of $355,000.

There should be no delay in accepting by the state legislature.

Whether there was wrongdoing in connection with the deal or not may still be a moot question. But it's admitted the price and rent are too high. If the builder is anxious to get out of the deal, the state should accept his offer and make it unanimous.

POLITICAL PARADE

By Homer L. Roberts
(California Press Service Writer)
Special to The Truckee Republican

REPRISAL. "Spank the assembly" will be the title of a little drama enacted in the senate in the next few days.

It will mark the first definite split between big city and "cow county" forces in the legislature.

The senate, representing the rural sections, passed the Ingels amendment cutting down county payments for the support of schools.

In the assembly the measure was Homer Roberts killed, 50 to 29.

So the senate has decided to ignore bills sent to it with the names of the 50 big city assemblymen who voted against their measure.

"Maybe those city guys will change their minds about stopping bills the cow counties want," said one senator, Well—Maybe.

CANDIDATE. During the bitter fight over the ways and means budget, Former Governor Friend W. Richardson was present in the assembly.

He grinned broadly when irate assemblymen shouted that such "steam roller" methods hadn't been used since the days Governor Richardson was in the saddle and Nellie Brewer Pierce was his budgetmaker.

Richardson's friends would like to see him run for governor again. It wouldn't be surprising if he does. Even though he holds an appointive office, Richardson doesn't consider himself ever obligated to the Rolph administration.

INQUIRY. Tables will be turned when the senate judiciary committee hears the charges brought by Governor Rolph against J. M. Inman.

Instead of being the investigator, as he was when head of the committee investigating the governor Inman will appear in a defense role as the investigated.

Inman is accused of using his position as state senator to obtain paroles for convicts in state prisons.

CHURCH. A nice little internal row in the Catholic church has resulted over the bill to exempt private, non-profit schools owned by Catholics and 11 other denominations from taxation.

Archbishop Edward J. Hanna of San Francisco is said to have a representative in Sacramento, lobbying against the measure.

On the other hand, the church organs of Bishops John J. Cantwell, Los Angeles; Robert Armstrong, Sacramento, and of the dioceses of Fresno and Monterey are vigorously supporting the amendment.

Author of the bill is Assemblyman Charles W. Dempster, a 32nd degree Mason.

SNAPSHOTS. E. Forrest Mitchell about had Governor Rolph argued into keeping him another year as insurance commissioner. But someone threw a monkey wrench.

Folks Worth Knowing

HON. HARRY L. ENGLEBRIGHT
United States Congressman

Harry Lane Englebright, United States Congressman from this district (Second) was born in Nevada City, California, on January 2, 1884, and was educated at the University of California.

Mr. Englebright is a Mining Engineer by profession, and from 1911 to 1914 was Mineral Inspector for the field division of the General Land Office; engineer for the State Conservation Commission of California. He is the son of William F. Englebright, deceased, who represented practically the same district in the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth and Sixty-first Congresses. On December 14, 1912, he was married to Miss Marie Grace Jackson of Nevada City and has one son, Harry Jackson. Member of American Mining Congress, the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, and from 1925 to 1926 was Great Sachem of the Improved Order of Red Men for the State of California.

Elected to the Sixty-ninth Congress at a special election on August 31, 1926; reelected to the Seventieth, Seventy-first, Seventy-second and Seventy-third Congresses without opposition. Elected Republican Whip of the House a few weeks ago.

The fact that he has been elected United States Congressman for four consecutive terms, without opposition, is evidence in itself of the high esteem which the citizens of the Second District hold him. The Second Congressional District is composed of the following counties: Siskiyou, Medoc, Trinity, Shasta, Lassen, Tehama, Plumas, Sierra, Nevada, Placer, El Dorado, Amador, Calaveras, Alpine, Tuolumne, Mariposa, Mono and Inyo.

Mr. Englebright is a member of the following committees: Mines and Mining, Public Lands and Territories.

Mr. Englebright is one of the best known Congressmen at Washington, and has a host of friends throughout all California.

SAN FRANCISCO—(CPS)—Five-year old Lavina Selva told a stranger where her "mama kept her money." He stole the purse and fled. Police rushed to the scene to find he had taken only 10 cents.

Benefit by Mistakes

You cannot afford to put your time in destructive regretting. You cannot afford to let the opportunities you have missed or the blunders you have made pester you and bedevil you to the extent of reducing your efficiency and of weakening your ability and of lessening your capacity to forge ahead.

There are persons who are worrying so about things they did do which they feel they should not have done that they are being hampered in the business of living their own lives and of helping others to live.

It is well to look back provided we take the right attitude while looking back. Every mistake we make is important for its experience. Experience is valuable provided we look on it as experience, provided we take it for exactly what it is—knowledge. But if we use our experiences merely to fret us, to worry us, to drive us into insanity, or into death, then we are sadly misusing our experiences.

The human mind is a fine instrument. The human ability to ponder the past is of great value. But we are wrongfully using our minds, we are harmfully employing our gift of recollection, when we use those powers to tear ourselves down.

Worry is a savagely injurious emotion. Some persons get worry confused with repentance. They think that when they are worrying they are repenting.

There is a vast difference between worry and repentance. When a person repents, he admits that he has been wrong, he confesses his error, if only to himself. He determines never to repeat the error. That is repentance. That is the right attitude to take toward a wrong one has committed. That is a constructive state of mind for it means that one has profited by an experience.

But to stew and to fume and to grieve and to tear oneself down about a thing one has done or has not done, is an unfortunate thing to do, and is a thing never to do.

Press on, should be everybody's motto. Press on forgetting those things that are behind, forgetting them except so far as to remember them in guiding one in one's future course.

Everybody makes mistakes. The mistake is as inseparable from the mortal life as the falling down is inseparable from learning to walk. Fall down we must, over and over again; get up and walk on we must, over and over again until finally we learn so well how to walk that we do not fall down. If, when the child learning to walk falls down, he should lie there the rest of his life sobbing over the fact that he had fallen down, he could never learn to walk.

If you made blunders, if you slipped financially, if you slipped morally, if you slipped spiritually, look at the place where you slipped, mark it well so that you will know it the next time you come to it and you will know what to do when you come to it. But don't grieve your heart out over it. Don't fret your soul to pieces over it for you are going to need your heart and

Capitol News Letter

(California Press Service)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 13—(CPS)—Slashed to the tune of more than $23,000,000 Governor Rolph's biennial budget was before the state senate for final action this week.

After a heated argument in the assembly, where the ways and means committee disclosed it had enough votes to jam the budget bill through, the bill was assured of prompt action.

Many of the drastic cuts were not favored by the administration. For example, $1,600,000 was cut from the department of motor vehicles, which means about 200 traffic officers will lose their jobs. An item of $200,000 for a new cell block at Folsom prison was removed, which means a seriously-crowded condition among the convicts.

BEER TAX. All beer sold in California is now being taxed at the rate of 62 cents a barrel, which is expected to yield $620,000 a year towards balancing the state's budget.

The beer tax bill was jammed through the senate without opposition, so that Governor Rolph could sign it—which he did, one minute before midnight, when the sale of beer became legal.

PRAYER. Beer even found its way into the daily prayers of Rabbi Norman Goldberg, chaplain of the assembly.

Prayed he: "Grant that we may not abuse the gifts of Thy beneficence; grant that our joy be not too riotous and indulgence not too unrestrained. Guide Thou our footsteps in the path of moderation."

Rabbi Goldberg has the distinction of being the first chaplain to have a prayer applauded by the assembly. This was on March 17, when he prayed for the Irish.

ABOLISHED. The state department of finance, headed by Rolland A. Vandegrift, is on its way to oblivion, unless stopped by the assembly or the governor.

The upper house voted to abolish the department, and place control of the state's financial affairs in the hands of a state board of control. This board would include the attorney general, state controller, and state budget-maker.

Another bill adopted by the senate would abolish the state civil service commission and put civil service under the board of control.

NEW JOBS. While the state legislature was adopting a budget that would throw 500 state employees out of their jobs, the state highway commission busied itself with unemployment relief.

The commission allotted $412,000 in order to extend employment on state highway projects until June 20th, thus assuring work for 4,500 men for two months longer than expected.

Downville, California

Life is little more than a large, difficult jig-saw puzzle. Piece by piece it is put together and when each piece is in its place and is completed, will it be a beautiful picture of a green slope, covered with wonderfully tall, straight trees and dotted with flowers, which leads down to a gloriously wonderful meadow; or an ugly broken hillside strewn with large dark rocks and steep cliffs ending in a dank treacherous chasm?

Whether your picture is to be a gentle slope or a rock-strewn hillside is for you, and you only, to decide.

You can make your life a beautiful picture, or you can make it an ugly one by your wish. Why not make it beautiful so that one could look on it with pride and it will remain as a great masterpiece to all the world.

The preliminary hearing of Ralph E. Woods and Carl F. Russell, armed thugs captured here by Deputy Sheriff Charles Swanson on March 18th, while robbing the V. S. McClatchey home, was held at the Tahoe Women's Clubhouse on Friday about 1:30. A large crowd was in attendance to witness the unusual occurrence. The men were brought here from Auburn by Sheriff Gum and Assistant District Attorney W. H. Slade, court stenographer Cecil Colgan of Auburn also accompanying the party. Judge George Bliss presided and Assistant District Attorney Slade conducted questioning of witnesses. First of these called was Mr. H. J. McClatchey of Sacramento, who motored up for the trial in company with his son Reed. He gave specific information regarding the V. S. Co. property and identified clothing taken from the McClatchey residence.

Ray Matchem, caretaker of the aforementioned properties, was the next witness called, and related in detail the events leading up to the arrest of the prisoners, and identified articles stolen from the "big" house.

Constable Carl Becholdt testified as to the arrest and searching of the men and the trip to Auburn.

Deputy Chas. Swanson told of the manner of capturing the prisoners and the searching of them and their car, and of finding knives, guns and other articles.

The men were traced to No. Sierra St. in Reno where it was learned they had lived from March 9th to the 17th. Both have been married and have children, and both were in jail before, Woods being a two-time loser. While taking the prisoners back to Auburn after the hearing, a stop was made at Baxter's camp, the men being allowed to alight for a few moments. Believing Sheriff Gum to be off his guard for the instant, both made a break for freedom and were brought back only when fired upon, and then had to be beaten over the heads with a gun several times before they would submit again to handcuffs.

Judge Bliss, after hearing the evidence against them in the case bound Woods and Russell over to the Superior Court and placed bonds at $2,500 each. From the amount of evidence in the hands of the authorities, it is believed a conviction carrying substantial jail sentences will be meted out to them at their trial.

Misses Florence Ford and Dorothy Freund of Modesto are guests for Easter week of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Swanson.

Burden of Boarding Homes May Be Shifted To Cities and Counties

By JACK RICHARDS

(California Press Service Writer) Special to The Truckee Republican

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 13—(CPS)—Shall California shift the burden of supervising and licensing boarding homes for the aged and for children upon the cities and counties?

This question is soon to be answered by the state legislature, when it is called to pass upon recommendations made by the senate fact-finding committee headed by David F. Bush of Oakdale.

There are a total of 2,212 boarding homes in California that would be affected by such a move, of which one is to be found in Nevada county.

Social welfare experts in all parts of California are aligning against the move. The object to returning to the old methods under which there were no standards required for such homes.

"It would mean as many kinds of supervision as there are cities and counties in the state," their spokesman declared. "It would also mean saddling just one more burden upon city and county taxpayers."

The $40,000 saved to the state biennially by the transfer would be more than offset by the discomfort and inconvenience to children and aged, the opponents said.

"These homes, which house more than 5,000 persons, are subjected to strict supervision in order that the helpless aged and children may be afforded the best possible care and protection," said Rhea Crawford Spivale, director of social welfare.

"The importance of this work cannot be overestimated. It is of vital importance that children be placed in homes with the proper environment as well as other essentials of life, for happiness and health, as well as mental development.

"The aged must have homes with the best possible care, to the end that their declining days may be spent in comfort and peace. Before being granted permits to board children or aged, applicants must prove themselves to be of the highest character and integrity.

"Any move to upset the present efficient and satisfactory system of supervision is unwise economy."

RATTLESNAKE EATS PLUMED QUAIL

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Apr. 13—(CPS)—These California rattlesnakes! They'll try anything once—even to eating plumed quail.

Probably moved by recent press dispatches of the bullfrog that tried to eat a baby alligator, Wright M. Pierce of Claremont reports seeing a rattler in the act of consuming a one-third grown plumed quail. The scene was near Big Bear Lake, San Bernardino mountains.

"The snake was a comparatively small one," he said. "It was about 3 feet long. It had nearly half swallowed the bird, which was dead. I attempted with a stick to keep the snake from crawling for the bushes, as I wanted to get some pictures. But the snake disgorged the bird and came for me. It was especially vicious and put up quite a battle until I killed it."

Measure Introduced To Enlarge Fish and Game Commission

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(California Press Service Writer)
Special to The Truckee Republican
SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 13—(CPS)—Nevada county would have greater representation on the California fish and game commission under terms of a measure now before the state legislature enlarging the membership of the board from three to seven.

Backed by the California state chamber of commerce, the bill was introduced by Assemblyman Hubert B. Scudder of Sebastopol, and received endorsement of the assembly fish and game committee.

Five of the proposed seven members would represent specified areas of the state, while the other two would be appointed at large. The five regions are as follows:

North Coast—Del Norte, Humboldt, Lake, Mendocino, Sonoma, Napa and Marin counties.

Sacramento valley—Siskiyou, Modoc, Trinity, Shasta, Lassen, Tehama, Plumas, Glenn, Butte, Sierra Colusa, Yuba, Nevada, Placer, Yolo, Sacramento, El Dorado and Amador counties.

San Joaquin valley—San Joaquin, Calaveras, Alpine, Stanislaus, Tu-lumne, Mono, Merced, Mariposa, Madera, Inyo, Fresno, Tulare, Kings and Kern counties.

Central coast—San Francisco,
Contra Costa, Alameda, Santa Clara,
San Mateo, Santa Cruz, San Benito, Monterey and San Luis Obispo
counties.

Southern California—Los Angeles,

Santa Barbara, Ventura, San Bernardino, Riverside, Orange, San Diego and Imperial counties.

Dissatisfaction with the present administration setup of the fish and game resources of the state led to introduction of the bill, according to Charles G. Dunwoody, director of the natural resource division of the State chamber of commerce.

"At present a commission is appointed and goes into office too often without a working knowledge of the constructive program that has gone before," said Dunwoody.
"The result is that work well started in the right direction is discarded due to lack of understanding of its true value and objectives."

"The present system does not provide the representation desired by the sportsman. Under the new plan there will always be a few men on the commission who have had the necessary experience to maintain continuity of program, thus preventing waste of funds through helping to maintain going projects until they are completed."

"Each section of the state will be assured of having at least one commissioner to whom they may present their problems. The regions provided in the bill were chosen after careful study."

Commissioners appointed under the proposed new plan would serve staggered terms. In starting, four members would be appointed to serve until January 1, 1935, and the other three until January 1, 1937. At the expiration of these terms a new appointment would be made for a 4-year term.

NO AID PROPOSED FOR STATE PARKS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 13—(CPS)—Although the big national reforestation program will prove a "life saver" as far as California's national forests are concerned, the four national parks in the state are going to feel the pinch of poverty for another year.

These parks were allotted $1,500-200 for road and trail construction during the year just ended. But for the next year not a cent has been set aside for this purpose.

Yosemite will receive the largest allowance, with a $4,000 ranger station, a garage, heating plant, and cabin, at a total cost of $14,700.
In Lassen park $1,500 will be spent to extend the electric system, and in Sequoia, $2,600 for a sewer system. General Grant Park must get along another year without improvements.

Can You Solve This One?

OROVILLE, Cal., April 13—(CPS).
When R. A. Dotson's family milk cow came home milkless several nights in succession, a mystery was seen.

The cow was staked in the center of a large field, in full view, and no one was seen to approach her during the day.

When her "parking place" was changed, however, the cow continued to give the customary one and one-half gallons a day. But the mystery of the missing milk is still unsolved.

CORNING—(CPS)—Prizes at a

Louvre Prize for World's Fair

From the Louvre in Paris the most famous American painting in the world — Whistler's beloved "Mother"—is coming to Chicago for the 1933 World's Fair.

During the Century of Progress Exposition, this masterpiece will command the exhibition in the Art Institute of Chicago, which has been officially designated as the Fine Arts building of the Fair.

It is particularly fitting that the memory of Whistler should be so honored in Chicago. The great artist's grandfather, Capt. John Whistler, led the troops that came to Chicago in 1803 to build Fort Dearborn, and remained in command of the new frontier fort until April, 1810. Whistler's father spent his earliest years in the new fort.
The success of his regime led one historian to refer to Capt. John Whistler as the "father of Chicago."
Captain Whistler was such an important figure in the early settlement that it was once proposed to call the village "Whisterville" in his honor.

Returning recently from a second tour of the principal galleries and collections of America, Robert B.
Harshe, director of the Art Institute, and Daniel Catton Rich, associate curator of paintings, announced that the World's Fair is assured the greatest exhibition of masterpieces ever displayed in America.

Everywhere they met with the most cordial reception. Owners of the most famous private collections are willing and anxious to share their prized treasures with the millions who will see the Chicago Fair.

Directors of the public and semi-public galleries of the country are delighted at the opportunity to show the visiting throngs the rarest treasures of their own collections.

A century ago there were few great pictures in America. Today our private collections and museums boast treasures of amazing value.
Among these are magnificent works by Fra Angelico, Botticelli, Velasquez, El Greco, Holbein, Titian, Raphael, Rembrandt, Hals, Gains-borough, Ingres, Courbet and Manet, to name but a few.

The Art Institute of Chicago will exhibit one of its own most prized possessions, El Greco's "The Assumption of the Virgin." This is considered the greatest El Greco outside of Spain.

Exhibit in Three Divisions
The art exhibition during the World's Fair, from June 1 to November 1, will be arranged in three main divisions. In one, a collection of old and primitive masters will range from the Italian dugento down through the Eighteenth century. There will be galleries of Italian, French, German, and Flemish primitives, and early masterpieces from Spain, Holland, and England.

The second division will show what art itself has accomplished in this last century of progress. Great stress will be laid on a hundred years of French and American art.

DEPRESSION HITS CHAUFFEUR PAYROLL

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 13—(CPS)—Chauffeurs are going out of style in California.

It's all on account of the depression, according to Russell Bevans, state registrar of motor vehicles, who says that persons of wealth are now driving their own cars.

"The number of registered chauffeurs dropped from 83,679 in 1932 to 5,118 this year, a decrease of nearly 94 per cent," said Bevans.

The only increase in motor vehicles were non-resident permits, pneumatic tired trucks, and mortgages.

(CPS)—This is the time of year for California motorists to have their cars overhauled to make driving safer and more pleasant for the summer, according to the state department of motor vehicles.

Here is a list of hints for spring adjustments issued by the department.

Clean carbon and grind valves.
Change lubricants of both engine and chassis to the grades recommended for warmer weather operation.

Clean the entire fuel system and readjust the carburetor.

Replace the straining element in the oil filter.

Set back the generator in case it has been advanced to compensate for the more severe drain on the battery during winter.

Check the spark plugs and replace those found defective.

Drain and flush transmission and differential housings.

Check gaskets, gears, and bushings through which oil may be leaking.

Have the wheels aligned. They may have been thrown out by skidding into curbs or being bumped by other cars during slippery days.

Check over tires for cuts. If any are found fill them up with any of the many good compounds on the market.

Have the headlights adjusted.

Check the steering mechanism for looseness and wear that turns into wheel wobble at increased speeds.

"The change from spring to summer should be the signal for careful inspection of all motor parts for efficient operation," the department's statement said.

NEVADA COUNTY FARMERS AWAIT FEDERAL AID

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(California Press Service Writer)

Special to The Truckee Republican
SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 13—(CPS)—Ninety thousand California farmers are anxiously watching the fate of President Roosevelt's two billion dollar farm relief program.

These 90,000 farmers are the owners of farms that are heavily mortgaged. The relief provided under the new farm measure would be inestimable.

Every county in California would receive benefits from this proposal. Latest federal figures show that of a total of 367 farms in Nevada county operated by their full owners, 80 are carrying a total mortgage burden of $173,380.00.

Experts in the state department of agriculture believe the new farm program would do more to rehabilitate the agricultural industry in California than anything that has occurred in a decade.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, in a communication sent to California pointed out that several alternative methods of refinancing the mortgage debt of individual farmers are provided:

"Advances would be made for paying not more than 2 years' interest and taxes when the mortgage holder is unable or unwilling to assist the farmer," he said, "and the latter has reasonable chance of working out his difficulties, if given a little more time.

"Long-term loans for refinancing mortgages not in excess of 75 per cent of the fair value of the security, would be available where existing mortgages, including delinquent interest and taxes, cannot otherwise be extended.

"Second mortgage loans would be made as an inducement to the holder of a 'distressed' first mortgage to scale down his claim to an amount not exceeding 75 per cent of the fair value. The proceeds of the second mortgage would be applied to reduce further the principal of the first mortgage loan.

"Federal land banks are authorized to issue up to two billion dollars in 4 per cent bonds, and purchase mortgages on farm lands or exchange bonds for them.

"The Reconstruction Finance Corporation will make available $100,000,000 in loans to joint stock land banks; $200,000,000 to farmers for refinancing their debts, and $50,000,000 to drainage, levee and irrigation districts."

Christian Science

"Doctrine of Atonement" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday, April 16, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The Golden Text will be: "There is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus" (1 Timothy 2:5). Other Bible citations will include: "So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation" (Hebr. 9:28).

The Lesson-Sermon also will include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The atonement is a hard problem in theology, but its scientific explanation is, that suffering is an error of sinful sense which Truth destroys, and that eventually both sin and suffering will fall at the feet of everlasting Love" (p. 23).

HOSPITALS FOR INSANE SAID TO BE 'CRACKED'

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 13—(CPS)—Even some of the buildings housing state insane patients are "cracked."

The buildings referred to are the lighter construction type hospitals in Southern California, according to Dr. J. M. Toner, director of the state department of institutions.

Dr. Toner recommended that all hospitals housing the insane be of permanent construction.

SIGNIFICANCE OF A PACK OF CARDS

An English soldier who had been brought before the town magistrate for apparently playing cards in church, explained away the charge in the following manner:

"I have been, Your Honor, about six weeks on the march and have had neither Bible nor common Prayer Book; in fact nothing but a pack of cards."

Spreading the deck of cards before the magistrate, he began with the Ace.

"When I see the Ace, it reminds me that there is but one God. When I see the deuce it reminds me of the Father and Son; when I see the trey, it reminds me of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost; the four reminds me of the four Evangelists who preached—Matthew, Mark, Luke and John; the five reminds me of the wise virgins who trimmed their lamps. There were ten, but only five of them were wise and five were foolish and were shut out.

"The six reminds me that in six days the Lord made Heaven and Earth. The seven reminds me that on the Seventh Day God rested from the great work he had made and hallowed it; the eight reminds me of the Eight Religious Persons who were saved when God destroyed the world; i. e., Noah, his wife, his three sons and their wives; the nine reminds me of the lepers who were cleansed by our Savior. There were nine out of ten who never returned to thank Him. The ten spot reminds me of the Ten Commandments which God handed down to Moses on the tables of stone.

"The King reminds me of the Queen of Sheba who visited Solomon for she was as wise a woman as he was a man. She brought with her 50 boys and 50 girls all dressed in boys' apparel for King Solomon to tell which were boys and which were girls. The King sent for water for them to wash and the girls washed to the elbows; the boys to the wrists, so King Solomon told by that."

The soldier continued, "When I count the number of spots in a pack of cards, I find 365—the number of days in a year. There are 52 cards in the pack—the number of weeks in a year. There are 12 picture cards in the pack—the number of months in a year, and 13 tricks—the number of weeks in a quarter. So you see a pack of cards serves as a Bible, an Almanac and a Common Prayer Book."

The soldier was discharged.

Mrs. BALL and Miss BELLER were cabin mates on a ship that arrived in New York the other day.

LET ROOSTERS CROW SAYS SUPERIOR JUDGE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 13—(CPS)—If the courts hold that a dog is entitled to one bite, surely a rooster should be entitled to one crow.

Such, in effect, was the opinion of Superior Judge Leon R. Yankwich, who recognized the right of roosters to greet the dawn, and of hens to advertise their egg-laying ability.

The ruling was made in an injunction sought by Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hartlett, who complained against the noise of their neighbor's chickens.

Clara Bow
Grows Up

Film fans who have expectantly awaited Clara Bow's new picture will be amply rewarded when "Call Her Savage," first of the flame-haired star's productions for Fox, will be shown at the Donner Theatre next Sunday night.

She is far lovelier than ever more poised, dignified, and has a certainty and confidence which should re-establish her as the one really great star of the screen.

The story is a stormy-plotted romantic drama affording her every opportunity for a full display of her emotional ability, from the headstrong wilfulness of her youth to the sublime tenderness of mother love. Through flirtatious courtship days, a hasty and repented marriage, and the reckless, carefree escapades hereafter, Clara leads three men a merry chase in the picture.

They are Gilbert Roland, her half-breed Indian sweetheart who wins her in the end; Monroe Owsley, her worthless husband; and Anthony Jowitt, her weak-willed suitor following her separation.

Others prominent in the supporting cast are Thelma Todd, her honey-haired rival; Estelle Taylor as her mother; Willard Robertson as her stern father; and Victor Heyburn.

"Call Her Savage" was adapted by Edwin Burke from Tiffany Thayer's novel of that name and was directed by John Francis Dillon.

Mrs. O. Nelson and children are spending the week with Mr. Nelson, having driven up from Auburn where they make their home.

Word has come from Q. P. Harris, who was taken away from Hobart very ill last week, that he has been operated on in the Berkeley Hospital and is getting along as well as can be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Siebold entertained a number of friends at their home Saturday evening where a pleasant time was had at bridge. Mr. and Mrs. P. Lazier, Mr. and Mrs. O. Lindsay and Mr. and Mrs. G. Lesselyoung enjoyed the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Clark drove to San Francisco and spent the week end with their daughter Miss Martha.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Schulhof and Miss P. Waugh of Sacramento spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. W. Caples in Hobart. Mrs. Caples and Mrs. Schulhof are sisters.

Cap Thompson who has been quite ill at his home here is able to be out and around again.

County Supervisor A. Robertson on the Hobart Truckee road Tuesday smoothing out the rough places. The road is now dry and with a scraping will be in good condition for the summer travel.

CONTRACTORS FIGHT FOR REGISTRATION ACT

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 13—(CPS)—California contractors who favor the state registration act are preparing to make a "last stand" here to prevent the legislature from wiping it out.

More than 200 builders' exchanges, contractors, plasterers and plumbers, material dealers, and home finance associations in virtually every county of the state, are aligned in opposition to the bill, according to Senator Chris N. Jespersen, Pasco Robles.

Senator Ray R. Ingels, Ukiah author of the measure, says that the registration is not a proper state function and should be abolished.

The opposition to the measure contend that it would throw down the bars, and result in "a horde of crooked and irresponsible carpet bag contractors and jerry builders from other states invading California and robbing the public."

SPINACH CROP TWICE AS LARGE AS IN 1932

SAN JOSE, Cal., April 13—(CPS)—Don't let your small son or daughter hear about this, but the spinach crop this year in the Santa Clara valley is twice as large as that of last year.

New canning methods are being employed by the large packing plants here, and approximately 8,000 persons are employed. The total pack is estimated at 8,000 tons.

Under the improved methods, the housewife who was accustomed to find the spinach a muddy color when the can is opened will now discover an attractive green product, with more of its original properties.
